JAPAN'S TRADE IN CHINA DEAD

BOYCOTT ON JAP GOODS BECAUSE OF SHANTUNG DISPUTE LOSES HER NINETY PER CENT

By the Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—Japan has lost 90 percent of her trade with China since the imposition of the boycott on Japanese goods last May, according to Mohan T. Y. Zi, of Shanghai, delegate of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to the national foreign trade convention to be held here in May.

Commissioner Zi, a member of one of the greatest importing and exporting houses in China, is making a tour of leading American cities, and will return here in time for the convention.

Speaking of Japan's loss of the trade it had built up with China during the war, reaching a volume of hundreds of millions of dollars, Commissioner Zi told of the opportunities offered to Americans.

"As a condition precedent to this great trade opportunity for Americans in China, the primary considerations are better cable facilities and more ships," he said. "American cotton exports to China up to the time when this country entered the war, approximated $100,000,000. The great bulk of this trade, immediately upon your exports stopping, was secured by Japan, which obtained the raw product from China, manufactured the cotton and sent the finished product back for Chinese markets.

"Since the boycott, due to the Shantung situation, this great cotton market has been left practically open, and one of my chief missions to this country is to establish connections with the big cotton exporters. China is urgently in need of materials of hardware and of electrical equipment. In the latter line

POLITICAL SURVEY
In another part of this issue of the News will be found a political survey of the central west for the current year. Those interested in politics, and most everyone is, will find this a comprehensive and correct digest of the political line up in the various states mentioned. It gives the vacancies to be filled, the probable candidates and a digest of the leading issues confronting the people for solution at the polls this year.

Japanese products again are suffering from the boycott and the field is wide open.

"While to the outside world the trouble between Northern and Southern China seems important, it has no great bearing on the mercantile and industrial life of China. These factional differences are the product of political groups seeking power.

The automobile industry is capable of tremendous development, as the Chinese are very partial to American motors of good modern style and quality and at the lowest price consistent with these qualifications.

Chinese are also making strides in the development of industries and building up the manufactures of their own country, Commissioner Zi said. He also pointed out that American business men made a mistake in dealing with compradores (native commission merchants) at Chinese ports, rather than with Chinese importing and exporting houses, who, better understanding their problems, talking the language of their clients, operated more economically and efficiently in behalf of foreign traders.

SNOW-DRIFTS IN STREET OF NEW YORK HALT TANK; COLLEGE GIRLS SHOVEL THEIR WAY TO CLASS

Fair Barnard College girls shoveling snow and baby tank being given running space after New York storm.

New York City has had one of the severest winters, as far as snow and storms are concerned, in its history. The most recent blizzard and snow left street car and auto traffic temporarily paralyzed. Workers in many cases had to shovel their way from their houses to the more heavily traversed streets. A baby tank, built for storming German trenches, was called into play to free snowbound auto trucks and buses, but even this powerful engine failed to go over the top of the drifts. Members of the tank crew had to aid it now and then to get a good start. Barnard College girls made sport of the work of opening up walks about the college campus, turning out in relays to shovel snow.

BANKER'S SON AS BIGAMIST

By the Associated Press

MUSKOGEE, Feb. 13.—Harvey Hill, who claims to be the son of a wealthy Chicago banker, is in jail here today in default of a $1000 bond. Hill was arrested on a complaint filed by Mrs. Emily J. Hill, who claims to be his common law wife and charged that he married Miss Gertrude Barron in this city Jan. 29 last. Hill is said by the police to have been working as a hotel clerk here, in Kansas City and in other middle western cities. His father, according to the officers, has been notified of his son's arrest.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Harvey Hill, reported in dispatches from Muskogee as being in jail there on a charge of bigamy, is the son of A. H. Hill, Chicago real estate man and private banker. Harvey Hill, while in Chicago, was arrested many times for writing checks of banks where he has insufficient funds, according to police records. Finally his father announced that he was "through with Harvey."

Shortly after this announcement a suit of $10,000 for alleged breach of promise was filed against the son by Ethel Fries, a singer. Hill disappeared and nothing was heard from him until he was arrested in Muskogee.

BABY'S BODY FOUND BY DOGS AT STONEWALL

Local officers received a call today from Stonewall stating that the badly decomposed body of an infant had just been found in the edge of that town. When the body was first discovered it was being dragged about by some dogs that had discovered it under a residence and dragged it out. The sheriff and county attorney left at once for Stonewall to make an investigation, but were unable to find any clue of any value. It is reported that the residence at which the body was found is occupied by an elderly man and his wife who have lived in the house only about two months.

MILLERAND INSISTS ON TRYING KAISER

By the Associated Press

PARIS, Feb. 13. (Havas Agency)—Premier Millerand of France who is attending the meeting of the Supreme Allied Council in London is energetically insisting on the execution of the extradition clause of the Versailles treaty and urging that the men accused of war crimes that they be tried by default, says the Echo De Paris.

"Germany's proposal that she herself try the culprits is more likely to be adopted at London than in Paris," says the Petit Parisien, which adds the council will establish the culpability of former Emperor William and again demand his extradition from Holland.

TO NEWS PATRONS

The News management wishes to acknowledge to its friends and patrons that the paper is not living up to the high standard of excellency set by the present owners a few months ago, but in extenuation of that fact we feel that we have ample excuse.

In the first place we are kept busy day and night scouring the country for print paper and other printing materials which are not only sky high but which are almost impossible to secure.

The same may be said of skilled labor. The country has been searched for editors, reporters, printers and others proficient in the making of a newspaper. Our already too small force has been crippled for several weeks by the flu with little hope of relief at the present time.

The steady increase in price, almost daily, of material and labor, with difficulty in raising the prices of our own products to meet the deficiency as other business men seem to be able to do, has also added to the discomfiture and forced us to retrench to the minimum.

We don't know when these conditions will improve, but we do know that we are giving Ada as good a paper as human ingenuity can produce under the circumstances, and when the conditions improve you can expect the News to improve accordingly.

THE G. O. P. SECOND DISTRICT MEETS TODAY

By News' Special Service

MUSKOGEE, Feb. 13.—With the notable battle for national committeeman now history, the Second district republican convention here Friday afternoon promises to be marked by complete harmony.

Jake Hamon's organization will dictate the proceedings. Hamon supporters announced Thursday that E. M. Frye of Salineau had been elected as temporary and permanent chairman, but the rest of the program has not been "officially" completed.

The convention will name two delegates and two alternates to the Chicago convention. The delegates had not been "selected" Thursday. One presidential elector also will be nominated. The delegates will be uninstructed.

Hamon's forces claim to have the district clinched with 77 votes to seven for their opponents. McIntosh is the only county conceded to the opposition.

Eighty-four delegates, representing eight counties—Muskogee, Adair, Cherokee, Sequoyah, Taskell, McIntosh, Okmulgee and Wagoner—will be present. The convention will be held in the district court room, opening at 2 o'clock.

Simple Way To Entertain With Valentine Party

It matters little whether St. Valentine's Day guests be children or "grown-ups"—the day is calculated to make them receptive to simple forms of merriment. A suggestion for a hostess may be found in the familiar game of quoits.

Heart-shaped rings are made of heavy wire, to throw over the skates. These rings are wound with satin ribbon, or red crepe paper. Skates may be chosen and arranged at will. For instance, one skate may be an upright piece of wood on a pedestal, the whole covered with gilt paper, to represent Wealth. The heart-shaped rings which go over this skate count five points. Then for a second skate may be an upright piece set in a wreath of laurel, representing Fame. Hearts looping this horn counts ten points.

A third upright, wound with pink paper, with the pedestal wreathed in paper roses may represent love. Twenty-five points are won by each player throwing a heart over this skate. And so on thru the list of qualities and ambitions, according to the originality of the hostess. Should the party be for children, one skate to catch their interest might be made of white, with a white dove suspended above it to represent goodness. Hearts looping this might count 50 points. The limit on scores may be set at 500, or may mount higher should the hostess want the game to last longer, in order to fit with other arrangements for the evening. The awards may be the heartshaped hoops or small favors with other Valentine's Day significance.

WILSON'S FINAL TO RAILROAD MEN

WHAT IS TERMED AN "UNALTERABLE" DECISION HAS BEEN GIVEN RAIL MEN BY THE PRESIDENT

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—An "unalterable" decision in the railway wage controversy was made today by President Wilson with representatives of the railroad brotherhoods. The President says the government's policy was "based on justice to all interests."

President Wilson's decision was not announced at the White House. Officials said it was a "decision concerning a proposal." From this it was assumed that the President had refused to grant general wage increases but had made a counter proposition to the men.

Secretary Tumulty declined to say whether the President had refused specifically the wage demands adding that "every one wants to settle the strike" and that the brotherhood chiefs would have an opportunity to consider the President's suggestions without outside interference.

The President's statement that the decision was "based on justice to all interests" is in line with the final words presented to the Union leaders by Director General Hines at the last conference with them.

Mr. Hines was understood to have told them that with the return of the railroads to private control under the new railroad bill, an impartial tribunal for consideration of their demands would be created.

Mr. Hines was understood to have suggested that if an increase in pay were granted them the roads would seek an increase in freight rates which would mean increased living costs. This argument was presented to the union leaders on several occasions by the director General. It is said, inasmuch as the unions were pressing strongly for a reduction in living costs, officials said there was reason to believe the president had employed this in his answer to the union spokesmen.

After reading his statement to the union men, the president asked them to give consideration to this suggestion and they promised to do so.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—President Wilson today made a proposal to the representatives of the railroad brotherhoods for a settlement of their wage demands and the men agreed to give it consideration.

The brotherhood men would not say what the proposal was. Tempa Shay, acting president of the brotherhood of firemen and engineers, announced that they could make no statement today.

The White House was expected to issue a statement later in the day. Meanwhile there was no intimation as to whether the President would offer a substitute for an increase in wages, and the national organization committee's report of the high cost of living, or whether he would ask the workers to delay pressing their demands until the railroads were returned to the private owners, March 1.

CONSOLIDATION OF DEBT ADVOCATED

JOHN J. ARNOLD, SPEAKING BEFORE MEXICAN TRADE CONFERENCE, SPRINGS NEW FINANCIAL PLAN

By the Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13.—Consolidation of the war debt of all nations involved in the recent world conflict as well as outstanding trade balances which would provide international obligations guaranteed by all powers involved was advocated by John J. Arnold, of San Francisco, speaking before the United States Mexican trade conference here yesterday. Mr. Arnold who is a representative of the American Bankers Association urged that an international clearing house could be established as an adjunct to his plan.

He declared an international bankers conference would be called immediately and that manufacturers and commercial men of all nations be invited to send representatives. He said such a convention would provide measures for standardizing currency and for the elimination of exchange fluctuations which would result in the restoration of confidence.

A spirited discussion followed Mr. Arnold's address resulting in the adoption of a motion for the appointment of a committee a resolution in accord with the speakers suggestions to be presented before the conference on Friday.

Cultivate the Memory.

Back of the idea of cultivating a memory is the keener edge it puts on the brain generally, which is the making of the more attractive person. Professional Printers---

There is as much difference in printing as there is in human beings. Printing is a profession, and a good job of printing can come only from those who know, by experience and training, what it takes to constitute a high class piece of art.

Printing is no longer looked upon simply as a combination of letters and sentences. PRINTING IS AN ART, just as much so as painting. No two jobs of printing are exactly alike, because the human element is involved.

The News Printery has collected a bunch of artists to handle the commercial printing. These men know what appeals to the man of education and training. They know color work, the combination of type faces. This knowledge is at your service. Can you afford to do without it? You would not buy unmusical music. Why buy inartistic printing?

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 12.—A meeting which will attempt to provide machinery for the settlement of all labor controversies throughout the state, both in organized and unorganized unions, will be held Saturday morning in the house of representatives in Oklahoma City at the Capitol. Clyde Conley, state commissioner of labor, called the meeting.

Representatives of civic labor organizations, including chambers of commerce, manufacturers and various other industrial employees have been invited to attend the meeting. The general public will be represented by mayors or other city officials.

The outcome is expected to be the establishment of an industrial commission.

Hickman Outlines
Conditions of the Schools of City

The following address was delivered by Superintendent J. E. Hickman of the city schools before the Lions Club a few days ago. On account of the many facts given herein and the accurate description of the school system, the members of the Club requested that it be printed.

Gentlemen of the Lions Club:— Upon your invitation I am glad of an opportunity to discuss with you matters of vital interest to public education in this city. Every thinking man and woman knows that George Peabody was right when he said that "Education is a debt due from present to future generations." It is the solemn obligation of this community as it is of every community in this free land of ours to see to it that every child, the rich and the poor alike, has at least all the educational advantages that the public schools can give. No investment made can possibly yield greater returns for an investment in the training of the boys and girls of our land as an investment in its future citizenship and an intelligent citizenship is the only hope of this or any other nation. Ignorance is a crime and just to the extent that any community makes it possible for its future citizens to grow up in ignorance to that extent that community is a party to a national crime. It is to the public schools of the land, the university of the poor, that we must look for our universal education. It is from this great American institution that must come the leaven that leaveneth the whole of our civilization. If the shame of illiteracy is ever to be wiped out it must be done through the public school; if the foreign element of our population is ever to be Americanized it must be through the public schools; if all the children of all the people are ever to have equality of advantages in the fundamentals of education it must come through the open door of the public school whether that school be a great city system or a one room school in a rural community. Public education is in no sense a luxury but on the contrary it is absolutely indispensable in a land of democratic ideals.

For your information I give the following data in regard to the schools of Ada. There are now four ward schools for white children and one separate school. There are employed in the four ward schools 38 teachers and two were employed in the separate school. The total white enrollment in the grades at the close of the fifth month is 1600 children. The average number of pupils per teacher in all grades is 45. There are at present nine grades on a half day basis. The enrollment by wards is 345 at Willard, 456 at Glenwood, 324 at Hayes, 383 at Irving. The teacher should not have more than 35 pupils to do justice to herself and the children whom she teaches. On this basis there should be about 315 children enrolled at each ward. You see therefore there is an excess of 30 children at Willard, 141 at Glenwood, 9 at Hayes and 73 at Irving, and 125 at the High School building a total of 378. This excess alone is more than enough to fill to capacity another ward school. But, gentlemen these figures do not take into consideration the fact that there are more than 500 children in this district who have never enrolled in school or who have enrolled and who for some reason have been dropped. This number is sufficient to fill and overflow still another ward building. We owe it to these children to see to it that they have the advantages these children who have the possibilities of good and useful citizenship within them grow to manhood and womanhood ignorant of their responsibilities in a free republic and too often become a menace to the government and the institutions they should cherish and foster. There are at present 16 teachers employed in the High School and the total enrollment in that department is 400. I wish to say that the transfer of the 8A classes from the ward buildings to the High School building was not made primarily for the purpose of beginning the organization of a Junior High School but was made to relieve the crowded condition existing in the wards. I have no doubt, however, about the merits of a Junior High School. The transfer of the grades from the High School building makes it possible to build a High School. With the wards and the High School in the one building we had no chance to do so. The present enrollment at the High School building fills it almost to capacity. When the 8B classes are added which will be done in September I doubt that the room in that building will be sufficient. I need not go in detail as to the High School, its policy, its administration and its objective. Suffice it to say that we are working and building on the assumption that the best is none too good for the children of Ada.

From what I have said previously you see the necessity of more school room. Two plans are being discussed at this time. Some favor moving the High School to a more central location and using the present High School building for a ward. Others think the present High School building would be sufficient at this time for a High School and suggest the advisability of taking immediate steps toward another ward building in the fourth ward. In my opinion gentlemen, the latter plan is the only feasible one at this time. I base my conclusion on this fact. Our present valuation for this district is approximately $5,000,000. We cannot bond ourselves for more than 6 per cent of this amount. In other words if we were willing to vote the limit we could not vote more than $250,000 on our present valuation. There is already an outstanding bonded indebtedness of $111,000 so that at this time we could vote only $139,000. I believe you will agree with me in the statement that when we build a high school building we must look to the future as well as the present and that under present conditions $139,000 would be insufficient. It is for this reason I say that at this time it is economy to build another ward. In the future when more room is needed the matter of location of the High School can be definitely settled. With more room for ward purposes the present building will take care of the situation for a few years. We haven't any time to lose. What ever is done must be done quickly, if we are to take care of the school situation another year.

Another serious situation confronts this city another year insofar as the public schools are concerned. The funds available for maintenance purposes are not going to be sufficient to take care of the needs of the schools of this city. A reasonable increase in teachers salaries will have to be met if we are to keep the teachers we have or if we get their equal. If another school building is provided additional teachers will be required. On a valuation of $5,000,000 the limit of 15 mill will give only $75,000, about $2,000 more than we had for this year. This year's estimate amounted to $73,270.00 of which amount the budget for teachers' salaries was $53,265.00. Suppose the teachers are given a minimum increase of 20 per cent. It is easy to see that the estimate for teachers salaries runs to $64,918.00. Add to this $8,500 the salary for nine additional teachers for another ward school and the teachers' budget alone amounts to $73,418.00. I wish to say that the minimum increase in the salary schedule I have assumed is less than half the increase being granted teachers over the entire country, if you put the increase on a 33 1-3 percent basis which is less than the increase of living to the teachers the salary budget alone amounts to $79,520.00. For the current year we have about $30,000.00 for running expenses. With an additional school building this amount should be about $30,000.00. In other words this city will need a minimum of $100,000.00 for its public schools next year and has in sight only about $75,000.00. May I say in behalf of the teachers that their demands for increase in salary is not in proportion to the demands made upon them to live and do the service the profession and the public demands of them. A few days ago a young lady was employed for grade work in the schools of this city at a salary of $85.00 per month. After a thorough canvass she found a room and secured board at a cost of $2.50 a month, just 50 percent of her salary. And yet she must dress neatly, and attend some school in the summer to do the best service as a teacher.

Lingering colds and coughs that follow the grip or influenza are difficult to overcome, but many such sufferers have found relief in Foley's Honey and Tar.

Wm. Barnes, San Antonio, Tex., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is undoubtedly the best cough remedy in the world. I know this is so because I found it to be so. Actual experience taught me. It has been worth $50.00 a bottle to me. Early in the season I had the 'flu,' which left me weak and with a persistent cough. The cough hung on and I became much worried about it. I was advised to try Foley's Honey and Tar and I began taking it that night. I have now completely recovered and don't cough at all."

Teachers for another ward school and the teachers' budget alone amounts to $73,418.00. I wish to say that the minimum increase in the salary schedule I have assumed is less than half the increase being granted teachers over the entire country, if you put the increase on a 33 1-3 percent basis which is less than the increase of living to the teachers the salary budget alone amounts to $79,520.00. For the current year we have about $30,000.00 for running expenses. With an additional school building this amount should be about $30,000.00. And yet she must dress neatly, and attend some school in the summer to do the best service as a teacher.

In conclusion I wish to add that one of two things will have to be done, if sufficient funds are to be had to keep the schools of this city up to standard another year. Either the 15 mill limit will have to be increased to 20 mills or else the valuations of this district will have to be increased to about seven and one half million. If the former is done it will have to be done by constitutional amendment and therefore could not possibly give us any relief for 1920-21. The latter if done at all will come through increase in valuation on property rendered or else by the State Board of Equalization. If neither is done the school situation in this city will be serious indeed. I have discussed these matters at length for I feel that you as citizens of Ada and as patrons of its public schools are deeply concerned in the welfare of the educational interests of your children and your neighbors children. In my opinion there is nothing that is of more vital importance to us just now than the growth and progress of the public schools of this city.

"Sleeping Sickness"
Now Puzzling The Doctors of England

By the Associated Press
LONDON, Feb. 12.—Eight or nine cases of what appears to be a new phase of the deadly "sleeping sickness" are puzzling the London Hospital doctors.

The disease to which the name encephalitis lethargica has been given, present many of the symptoms of the African sleeping sickness, but so far the trypanosoma, hitherto thought to be responsible for the sleeping sickness common to the Congo natives has not been found in the blood of patients at the hospital.

A representative medical committee is investigating the new disease. The house surgeon states it is too early to make a definite statement. So far no common factor save the overpowering desire to sleep has been found in cases under notice, nor has it been possible yet to trace the origin of each. There is said to be no cause for alarm as to the spread of the disease.

HONOR TO THE LIVING

Lincoln's birthday never fails to arouse a large measure of that worship humanity is fond of rendering to its heroes. Which reminds us that all of our heroes are not dead. We have in the land of the living men and women as worthy of special praise as any who have already passed away. And this is particularly true of America.

Where in the dusty catacombs of the past will you find a larger figure than Thomas Edison, whose discoveries in the realm of invention has long since become the marvel of the modern world? Like a chapter from Arabian Nights is the life story of the wizard who has revealed the secrets of electricity and made science the hand maiden of commonplace living. Humanity has had few more worthy benefactors, and the world has long honored those not fit to unfasten the latches of his shoes.

The story of Lincoln's rise to fame from obscurity is not more striking than the story of Anna Case. The daughter of an illiterate and vicious New Jersey blacksmith, born with a song in her heart, and scrubbing floors for hire that she might earn more to study music, Anna Case presents an example of heroic devotion to an ideal that is worthy the praise of a nation. Although the service she has rendered is not to be compared to the service rendered by Lincoln, the story of her accomplishments is one of the bravest in history.

The marvels wrought by General Pershing as chief of the American armies is not so remarkable as his progress from the desk of a country school teacher to the head of the forces he led in France. The story of his military service has been told. Some day someone will tell the story of a village lad on the prairies of North Missouri, who followed the dream of ambition upward from a low environment to the head of the greatest army of modern times.

And there is the unwritten story of those who might have achieved a world reputation if they had not chosen to serve in silence and in a quiet corner of the earth. Placing duty high above the call of ambition they chose to fill the humble niche to which duty called them and spent their days beside some sick bed or in the daily struggle to win for some helpless dependent his daily bread. The world does not hear of these, but all such deserve the highest praise the world can give.

In spite of his Berger vote and other delinquencies, we rather admire Congressman Mann of Chicago. Early in the summer when the question of adjourning congress was up, Mann was about the only congressman with sufficient nerve to advocate adjournment. He declared that nothing was being done and nothing would be done. His advice was not heeded and congress remained in session. He was bitterly arraigned in the public press at the time, but events have proved that Mann knew more about congress than all the papers that attacked him. Congress has been in session nearly all the time since, he urged it to adjourn, and it could not possibly have done less. It has done so little, in fact, that many people are ready to admit that representative government is a failure. Really, the country would be better off if the advice of Mann had been followed and congress had adjourned sine die.

Mr. Taft has warned the Republicans of Duluth that the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for president on a Democratic ticket favoring the league of nations would probably play hob with Republican hopes in the November election. But Mr. Taft overlooks one vital fact. The men who attend national conventions are politicians and they are partisans. No Democratic politician will support Hoover until Hoover himself aligns himself with the Democratic party. They will never endorse a candidate who might embarrass their record for regularity by declaring himself a Republican. The same is true of the Republicans. Politicians take few chances, particularly with men they know in advance they cannot control. Millions of the people in both parties want Hoover, but the people do not control national conventions.

The victory of Jake Hamon proves how dangerous it is for a man's enemies to advertise the fact that he has a barrel and is a good spender.

The Republican state convention denounced Wilson and listened to a congratulatory message from Harreld.

This information is taken from a compilation made by S. H. Hobbs, of the University of North Carolina, and can probably be relied upon. The figures prepared by Mr. Hobbs show that the cost per capita of the government in Oklahoma in the year 1918 was $3.86. Only one northern state showed a lower cost, that of Pennsylvania being $3.57. Missouri was next to Oklahoma, with $3.79. Of all the states, North Carolina showed up as spending the smallest amount per capita, $2.15. The other states which spent less than Oklahoma were Alabama, Tennessee, West Virginia, Mississippi, Georgia and Arkansas. Arizona carried off the grand prize for the amount spent, her per capita cost of government in 1918 being $14.94. The New England states varied from $9.37 in Maine to $6.29 in New Hampshire, Illinois spent $4.10; New York, $3.05; Kansas, $4.17 and California $10.90.

Edmond Takes

The First Game By Good Score

The basketball game at the Normal last night ended in an Edmond victory by a score of 32 to 15. The game was somewhat of a disappointment on account of the poor work of the referee in allowing the game to go into a rough scramble in the last half. Poorer officiating has never been seen here. The game tonight will be in the hands of Walter Wray and the rough stuff is taboo.

The game started last night with snap and vim, both teams being on their mettle and fast team work and clever shooting kept the crowd on edge. The score was constantly tied during this period and was tied, 10 to 10 when the period closed.

The second half started in the same way but the eagerness of each team to break the tie and take the lead put the game into a rough stage that the referee was unable or unwilling to stop. At this kind of game, the big fellows from Edmond naturally excelled and they pulled away from the locals as the game progressed.

Wray, who has been officiating in all the games this year, to the complete satisfaction of all concerned has been seriously ill and was unable to work last night but he will take charge tonight.

The locals were without the services of Sherman and Kidd, they being flu convalescents at this time. Tolliver took the place at center and performed very creditably. Ingram and Roach were at forward and Heard and Vernon at guard. The latter suffered a severe cut over the eye near the close of the game.

For Central, Williamson and Hafer performed best. Westland is a strong team and seem to be unbeatable for the Normal school championship. These teams play again tonight, starting promptly at 8 o'clock.

THOSE SECRETS OF BAFFIN LAND

THESE ARE THE OBJECTIVES OF THE NEXT ARCTIC EXPLORATION WHICH WILL START NEXT YEAR.

By the Associated Press

BOSTON, Feb. 13.—Secrets of Baffin Land, one of the portions of the Arctic still unexplored, will be the objective of the MacMillan expedition which is in preparation now for departure in the summer of 1921. Although the region was visited several times before the Pilgrims crossed the Atlantic to Cape Cod, Baffin Land from the point of view of explorers and scientists is still one of the richest and most alluring fields of research in the north.

Its whole western shore, more than 1,000 miles in length is but vaguely defined on the charts. Eskimo have told wonderful tales of vast lakes and towering mountains in the interior but white men have never visited that section. Its flora and fauna have never been studied; little is known of the movements of the tidal currents along its shores; and facts of geology, mineralogy and meteorology await the coming of scientific observers.

The party headed by Donald MacMillan, Perry's lieutenant on the expedition that reached the North Pole plans to leave Boston about July 1, 1921, and to reach Baffin Land in less than a month, with good luck. The following winter will be spent on the western shore in latitude 69. The camp will probably be just south of the entrance of the dangerous Fury and Hecla strait where the ships of Captains Parry and Lyon, seekers of a northwestern passage, were blocked a century ago. That is 160 miles north of the Arctic Circle and 700 miles south of Etah on the shore of northwestern Greenland where MacMillan's Crockerland expedition passed four winters.

During the winter attempts will be made by dog teams to explore the coast northward and in the following summer the interior of the island will be penetrated. The plans for the expedition call for an absence of two years from this country. In case a longer stay is necessary, no relief expedition will be sent according to present arrangements. If the ship is crushed in the ice, the party plans to retreat by dog teams to Fort Churchill, the trading post at the foot of Hudson Bay and to return to civilization by way of northwestern Canada.

The schooner Bowdoin, named for the college which MacMillan is a graduate and a present faculty member, will carry the expedition. It is expected that the vessel which has been especially designed for the work required of it will be launched at East Boothbay, Me., the coming summer. It is to be of the Gloucester fisherman knockabout type, of 110 tons displacement, of unusually strong construction and sheathed on the outside with ironwood to resist the grip of the ice as far as is possible. It will be approximately 37 feet in length with a draught of 9 1-2 feet, and will be equipped with rugged oil engines capable of developing 60 horse power. In addition to 2,000 gallons of crude oil, 500 gallons of kerosene and 20 tons of coal, the Bowdoin will carry in her hold stores and supplies for six men for two years.

The MacMillan Arctic Association just organized with Lieutenant Peary as president will back the expedition. It is composed of Bowdoin colleg alumni and other friends of the explorer.

Thirty Thousand Young Women Are Wanted as Nurses

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A campaign to recruit 30,000 young women in training schools for nurses and a prize of $500 for the best three act play by an American author based upon incidents in the life of Florence Nightingale, will be among the features of the celebration commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of the woman whose work among the sick and wounded in the Crimean war laid the foundation for modern nursing.

Pageants, public meetings and formal ceremonies will be held on the anniversary date, May 12, it was announced here today by the Nightingale Centennial Committee of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing. Nursing organizations, women's clubs and colleges will take part.

The prize for the play, was offered by the Illinois Council for Nursing Education to stimulate interest in the nursing profession, in which there is a low rate of enlistment at present. Incidentally it is hoped to encourage aspiring playwrights in colleges. Manuscripts must be submitted before August 1.

There are far too few nurses in the United States to meet the needs of normal times, it was said at the headquarters of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, and the shortage during the influenza epidemic has been acute. There are not more than 3,000 public health nurses in the country, where as at least 50,000 are required by federal and state legislation either passed or pending.

WOMEN VOTE FOR RIGHT TO SMOKE

MEMBERS OF WASHINGTON WOMEN'S CITY CLUB DO NOT AGREE WITH CHURCH BOARD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—On the very day the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church issued from its headquarters here a scathing denunciation of the use of tobacco by women, the members of the Washington's Women's City Club—which has a present membership of 3,000—voted to establish a smoking room in the club's headquarters. Declaring that the increased use of tobacco by women in the past year has been appalling, the anti-nicotine pronouncements says:

"A phase or present-day feminism demands every privilege for women that man claims for himself. Concerning the justice of this demand there can be no question. Concerning its expediency, much can be said.

"The more sedentary life of woman tends to an excess in the use of tobacco and produces more serious results than is caused by its use among men. The nervous constitution of a woman is comparable to that of an adolescent boy. The effect of tobacco upon them is similar to that upon immature youth." These arguments were all considered, but overridden in the vote of the City club members to establish a room where such of them as like their puff might smoke in peace and comfort. The decision turned largely on the query:

"What is a club, anyway, without a smoking room?"

Among the prominent members of the club are Mrs. E. P. Costigan, wife of the member of the tariff commission; Mrs. Louis Brownlow, wife of the member of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia, and Miss Jesse Haver of the national consumers' league.

Woman Camped At Courthouse To Get Action

That she has come to the court house to stay until a certain warrant of arrest is served and will not leave until said warrant is served, was the ultimatum delivered to the sheriff's office this morning by Mrs. Annie Parks. And it seems as if she is going to make her ultimatum stick, for she is still camped in the district court room and her dinner brought to her there at noon today. It seems that several days ago Mrs. Parks swore out a complaint for Joe Evans charging him with slander. Inasmuch as two of the sheriff's force have been sick and the sheriff himself extremely busy the warrant has not yet been served.

So this morning Mrs. Parks decided that the best way to get a thing done is to do it yourself, and hid herself away to the Center community where Evans lives and attempt to bring him in herself so that Evans took an axe and chased the woman away. At any rate she came back to Ada and announced to the undersheriff that she was staying right there on the spot (till the warrant for Evans' arrest is served. And she is still there.

CANADA WANTS TO BE MEMBER OF LEAGUE

By the Associated Press

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—Canada has notified Great Britain that it objects to any change in the condition of the League of Nations which will prevent the dominion from becoming a full fledged member of the League of nations and having a vote in the assembly.

After a meeting of the cabinet last night urging representation, protests were forwarded to the imperial authorities against acceptance by Great Britain of the League of Nations reservation to the peace treaty which is now being considered by the United States Senate.

Sewing Machines Repaired

So many women wonder why their Sewing Machine does not run properly, and in a great many cases it is a very simple thing which is the source of the trouble. Many machines are used year in and year out without being properly cleaned and they soon get gummed up and you think you need a new machine. We have demonstrated to several of the ladies of Ada recently that by taking their machine heads all apart and thoroughly cleaning every part and putting back together, that they had a machine as good as new.

Our Mr. Green is an expert repair man and can fix anything that needs fixing. Give him a trial.

POLITICAL SURVEY
FOR THE YEAR 1920REVIEW OF THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN THE CENTRAL
WEST FOR THE YEAR

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—This year signals the return to peace and politics, and already presidential campaigns are well under way and state contests for local offices humming.

In the central west there is more than the usual presidential year activity and with eight states in that section holding presidential preference primaries; with twelve states electing a United States Senator and fourteen with a governor and state ticket to select, political excitement will continue until after the November election. In addition members of the lower house of congress are to be elected in every state and present conditions, political observers say, will make these contests more spirited than ever.

Although the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution is in effect, observers say, it will by no means eliminate the wet and dry issue from politics. Other factors contributing to the bubbling of the political pot are divergent views held on the questions of labor and capital; national ownership and operation of railroads and public utilities and questions growing out of the changed conditions caused by the world war. The high cost of living with its wage and price problems will enter into every campaign, close students of politics declare.

The central west states and the dates of their primaries in which the voters may declare their preference for the presidential candidate are: North Dakota, March 16; South Dakota, March 23; Michigan, April 5; Wisconsin, April 6; Illinois, April 13; Nebraska, April 20; Ohio, April 27, and Indiana, May 4.

The twelve states in the central west which elect United States senator this year are: Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Governors are to be elected in the following states in the same district: Arkansas, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Texas and Wisconsin.

In Illinois the greatest political activity early in the year is observable on the republican side. Governor Frank O. Lowden has entered the presidential race and is conducting a lively campaign in a number of states besides his own.

State officials are lined up behind him and the presidential campaign apparently has crowded purely state politics to the back ground, though governor, lieutenant governor, and other state officers are to be elected next November.

The question of a senator to succeed United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, who has expressed his determination not to seek another term is likewise being held in abeyance.

Democratic party politics in Illinois have not begun to boil and those in touch with the party chiefs predict that the year will be the most harmonious for the party seen in several decades.

The election will afford the women of Michigan their second opportunity to exercise the franchise won through amendment to the state constitution. Both republicans and democrats already are seeking the support of women voters.

While nominating petitions for the presidential preference primary

April 5, have not yet been filed by any candidates, it is regarded as virtually certain that the republicans will have the names of Major General Leonard Wood, and Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, on the ballot. Only one hundred signatures to a nominating petition are necessary to place a name on the primary ballot.

A complete state ticket from governor down, including state senators and representatives as well as congressmen will be voted on at the November election. There is little prospect that prohibition again will be a formal issue. Michigan not only voted itself dry in 1916 but affirmed the action two years later and was among the first states to ratify the federal prohibition amendment.

North Dakota.

In North Dakota, state officers, all members of the state house of representatives, half the membership of the state senate, three congressmen and a United States Senator will be elected in November.

In the March presidential preference primary several laws, initiated by petition and looking to the repeal of existing "blue laws" are to be accepted or rejected. No formal petitions for a place on the presidential primaries ballot has been filed.

No candidates have filed yet for nomination in the primaries for state offices but tickets within the republican party are expected to be in the field. No contest is expected for the democratic nomination.

South Dakota.

South Dakota republicans expect to gain a United States Senator this fall. At the presidential preference primary, March 23, four candidates on the republican ballot are seeking support: Major General Leonard Wood, Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Senator John D. Pendergast of California and Senator Pendergast of Washington. On the democratic primary ballot the chief names are those of President Wilson and James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany. South Dakota women, for the first time, vote for presidential electors and high state officials this year.

At the November election the voters will decide whether they wish to legalize the sale of beer and light wines through grocery stores, without saloons, under what is styled the "legal merit system."

Wisconsin.

In Wisconsin the Mulberger law permitting the manufacture and sale of 2.5 percent beer is to be submitted to referendum at the November election when presidential electors, congressional candidates and state officers will be elected.

Delegates to the national conventions will be elected at the presidential primary April 6 and one wing of the republican party is credited with a desire to elect unopposed delegates while another section is believed to be seeking endorsement for Senator LaFollette.

The United States senatorial election is expected to be warmly contested. Senator I. L. Lenroot seeking re-election, has a possible opponent in James Thompson of La Crosse who political observers say is the probable choice of the La Follette wing of the republican party.

Ohio.

The republican organization in Ohio is striving for a solid delegation to the republican national convention instructed for Senator Warren G. Harding, for presidential candidate.

The presidential preference primary is April 27 and two possible candidates for the democratic nomination are Governor James M. Cox and Senator Atlee Pomerene.

State officers, a United States senator, congressmen and state legislatures are to be elected and women suffrage will be again before the voters at the fall election on the question of ratifying the action of the state legislature in accepting the federal woman suffrage amendment.

The fight over the United States senator is being held in abeyance until after the Chicago convention, the Ohio primary not requiring candidates to file nominating petitions until shortly before the August primary.

Indiana.

A complete state ticket with candidates for the state legislature, congressmen and a United States senator will be elected by Indiana voters this fall.

The presidential preference primary, May 4, will mark the opening of the political year which promises contests for nearly every office. The probable effect of the women's vote is already being discussed by politicians.

The tax law is declared to be the issue on which the state office fights will be joined and the wet or dry issue is expected to be in the background since the 1917 legislature made the state dry territory.

Nebraska.

The presidential primary, April 20, in Nebraska is holding the attention of most voters to the exclusion of the campaign for state officers to be elected this fall.

The principal activity is in the rival camps of the supporters of General John J. Pershing and of Major General Leonard Wood. The admirers of General Pershing claim him as a son of Nebraska by reason of his long residence in that state.

The lines in the gubernatorial contest have not yet been closely drawn and no United States senator is to be elected from Nebraska this year.

Kentucky.

Kentucky promises to become one of the most interesting battle grounds of the country at the November election. It has a republican state administration which was swept into power at the biennial election last November by a 40,000 majority and a congressional delegation, preponderantly democratic chosen in 1917.

At the August primary under the present primary law candidates for congress from the eleven districts and a United States senator will be nominated. The contest for the United States senator at the November election now appears to be between United States Senator J. C. M. Beckham, democrat and Richard P. Ernest, of Covington, republican.

Minnesota.

Minnesota republicans look for a return of the normal republican majority of approximately 100,000 in the election this fall, basing their views on the contention that conditions of 1916 when Hughes carried the state by 892 votes and 1912, when Wilson was overwhelmed ingly a victor over Taft, have changed completely.

There will be no United States senator elected this year but the voters will select state officers and congressmen and close contests in a number of congressional districts are expected.

Missouri.

Missouri voters this year will cast their ballots for a complete ticket from presidential electors to state officers including the selection of a United States senator and congressman and 159 members of the state legislature.

With the exception of the state auditor and the superintendent of public instruction all the elective state officers are democrats.

United States senator Selden P. Spencer, elected in 1918 at a special election is a republican, Senator Spencer, James L. Minnis and Dwight F. Davis, both of St. Louis are republican candidates for the senatorial nomination while Breckenridge Long, assistant secretary of the Navy has announced his candidacy on the democratic ticket. The preliminary senatorial fight will be at the August primary.

Iowa.

Selection of a United States senator, congressmen, governor and state officers will be made this year by Iowa voters at the November elections. There will be no presidential preference primary. Outside of the contest which may develop over the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of United States Senator Albert B. Cummins, state issues are expected to hold the place of prominence.

Texas.

One paramount issue already has appeared on the Texas political horizon whether a pro-Wilson delegation shall be sent to the Democratic national convention from this state. The contest will be decided at the democratic state convention May 25.

Former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey heads a faction of Texas democrats that takes issue with many of the important acts of Wilson's administration. While the Bailey faction has declared its intention of "fighting it out within the party," many political observers predict it will place a complete state ticket in the field if it finds that it has not party control.

Texas will elect a governor and a complete state ticket next fall. The eighteen Texas congressmen are also to be elected but no United States senator is to be elected this year.

Kansas.

Kansas will run the gamut of election possibilities this year filling offices from district road overseers to presidential electors and including a United States senator, eight congressmen and a complete state ticket.

The republican, democratic and socialist parties are expected to put complete tickets in the field. For the second election in forty years there will be no prohibition ticket, as no prohibition issue is before the people.

The voters at the fall election will be asked to express their views on three amendments to the state constitution. These are the farm tenantry amendment; good roads amendment authorizing the state to build highways and the tax amendment providing for a reclassification of property for taxation purposes.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma voters this year will elect a United States senator, eight congressmen and state legislators. The governor and most of the state officers holding four year terms were elected two years ago.

The fight for the democratic nomination for United States senator revolves on the stand taken by United States Senator Thomas P. Gore on administration war policies. Senator Gore will be a candidate to succeed himself and in the opposition will be Scott Ferris, congressman from the Sixth district and Attorney General S. Prince Freeling. J. W. Harrel, recently elected congressman from the Fifth district is prominently mentioned as a possible republican candidate for United States senator.

With the possible exception of the question of ratifying the federal woman suffrage amendment no serious state issues have been defined Oklahoma has been in the dry column since statehood and prohibition will not be an issue.

Arkansas.

Arkansas has returned a large democratic majority in every state and national election since reconstruction days and no one seriously expects this to be reversed at next November's election. However, the republican party intends to nominate a full state ticket as well as a complete list of presidential electors for the coming election.

Democratic candidates for congress and for state offices will be nominated at a state primary. The republican party intends to nominate at a state convention. Arkansas as this year will elect a complete state ticket, a United States senator and seven representatives in congress.

The senator to be elected will succeed Senator William F. Kirby who was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator James P. Clarke. In the democratic primary Senator Kirby will be opposed by Thaddeus H. Caraway, of Jonesboro, representative from the First Arkansas district.

Governor Charles H. Brough, who is serving his second term has announced that he will retire from public life at the conclusion of his present term.

TWO ONE-LEGGED MEN

By Napoleon Hill

In the town of Wichita Falls, Texas, I saw a one-legged man sitting on the side-walk begging for alms.

A few questions brought out the fact that he had a fair education. He said he was begging because no one would give him work. "The world is against me and I have lost confidence in myself," he said.

Ah, there was the rub!

"I have lost confidence in myself."

Across the hall from my office in another one-legged man. I have known him for several years and I know that his schooling was slight. He has less training than the one-legged beggar.

But he is earning a thousand dollars a month. As Sales Manager of a manufacturing concern he is directing the efforts of fifty men.

The beggar displayed the stump of his amputated leg as evidence that he needed alms. The other one-legged man covered up the stump of his lost leg so it would not attract attention.

The difference between the two men exists merely in viewpoint. One believes in himself and the other does not! The one who believes in himself could give up the other leg and both arms and still earn a thousand dollars a month. He could even give up both eyes, to boot, and still earn the money.

The world never defeats you until you defeat yourself. Milo C. Jones, of "Little Pig Sausage" fame, became a wealthy man out of the sausage business after paralysis had stricken him down and taken away the use of nearly every muscle in his body. He couldn't turn over in bed without aid.

As long as you have faith in yourself and that wonderful mind of yours continues to function properly, YOU CANNOT BE DEFEATED IN ANY LEGITIMATE UNDERTAKING. This statement is made without qualifications, because it is true.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN
THREW MONEY AWAY

MRS. PARKER SPENT HUNDREDS SEEKING HEALTH—TANLAC RESTORES HER

"My troubles have been completely overcome since I began taking Tanlac and I am enjoying the best health I have had in twenty years," said Mrs. M. Parker, of 423 East Third St., Los Angeles, Cal.

"I spent several thousand dollars for medicinal treatments," she continued, "but it was just money thrown away, for I never got any relief from my suffering until I commenced taking Tanlac. I was practically an invalid for twenty years and all my trouble was caused by the awful condition of my stomach. A great part of the time I was confined to my bed, simply too weak to be up. I could eat but very little, and that disagreed with me so I suffered terribly from gas. To make matters worse I was attacked by rheumatism in my arms and legs, which caused me no end of pain and misery. I never got a good night's sleep and became extremely nervous."

"Well, I have just finished my fourth bottle of Tanlac and it is wonderful the way I have improved. Why, I feel so well and strong I do all my housework without the least trouble. Last week I actually did the family washing and it has been many years since I did a thing like that. My appetite is fine and nothing disagrees with me. I sleep restfully and get up feeling refreshed every morning. The rheumatism has entirely disappeared and Tanlac deserves every bit of the credit."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co., in Stonehill by L. P. Carpenter, in Francis by Francis Drug Co. and in Roff by Dowdy's Pharmacy.

The Cattle Raisers of Texas to Solve Meat Price Problem Soon

By the Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 12—When the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, often termed the "the richest organization per capita in the world," meets in Houston next March 16 in annual session, a solution of the meat price question will be offered by a committee headed by President W. W. Turney of El Paso.

This committee now is at work on a meat market plan, modeled on a market conducted at Amarillo last fall by cattlemen and which was declared a success insofar as it reduced the price to the consumer and helped the cattlemen, too. It was this Panhandle experiment that led Marion Sanson of Fort Worth, formerly president of the Texas association, to suggest the experiment for the entire state.

Sanson also laid his plan before the American National Livestock Association, which met in yearly conference recently at Spokane.

It is the intention of the cattlemen's committee to recommend that a chain of retail meat markets be distributed through Texas and that the cowmen sell direct to them from the ranch, the butcher shops doing their own slaughtering.

Should the plan be adopted at the Houston convention, a committee then must be appointed to carry out the suggestion.

A General Increase In Prices Begins to Appear In Germany

By the Associated Press
AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS, COBLENZ, Ger. Feb. 12.—Continued shortage of raw material, increased cost of coal and wages is being reflected in a general increase in prices throughout Germany according to the German newspapers. A Hamburg rubber goods company has announced a 30 percent increase in the cost of all goods. Leather goods have gone up in price enormously. Some dealers say the price has reached such a stage that they believe it will be virtually impossible to do business in the leather line if the price takes another jump. Trade papers have recommended that leather goods be permitted to be imported free of luxury tax.

German newspapers are contemplating an increase both in the rate of subscription and of advertising. Despite the wall of high prices German newspapers published long accounts recently to the effect that many foreigners, especially, Russians had been flocking to Germany to take advantage of the low cost of living due to the low value of the mark. One newspaper says: "The cost of living for a foreigner in Germany today is probably one fourth of that abroad. Naturally, foreigners attracted by the cheapness of living conditions are flocking to various parts of Germany. Many of these are Russians emigrants who escaped from Stockholm of Copenhagen with money enough to last them a year or so but who, by coming to Germany, find themselves provided with enough money to last them five or six years."

Unusual Act of Heroism On Part Of Small Child

The most unusual act of heroism on the part of a child ever called to our attention was an incident that happened at Purcell last week, in which the participants involved are residents of Ada.

Mrs. Mike Derrick who lives on South Stockton was visiting a brother in Purcell and had with her the two children, Virginia, eight years old, and William, a tot of two years. At the home of the uncle, who is an extensive breeder of fine hogs, the two children were playing in a hay loft when the little boy, by accident, fell into a hog pen where there was a vicious sow with a litter of young pigs. The enraged animal attacked the small boy by biting him and succeeded in breaking out arm and otherwise badly bruising him about the limbs and body.

The act of heroism, one that deserves a Carnegie medal, came in when the little when the little girl sprang into the pen in race of death, to all appearances, and made battle with her infant brother to pieces.

Fighting desperately, and being attacked and quite seriously injured, she succeeded in rescuing the child and at the same time made her own escape from the pen.

Both children are severely torn and bruised but it is thought they will recover from their injuries in due time.

Go Ahead and Have a Good Time

If you can get any thrills out of thinking that you can buy a good suit of clothes for twenty five dollars—go ahead and have a good time.

But before you put your aspiration into action just look around and count the men who thought they could corner the stock market.

Thirty-five dollars is the very least you ought to pay for a suit this season—Forty dollars is better and fifty is more like it, if you expect to like it, wear it, and have it wear you.

At the above mentioned prices we show assortments of fine suits above the average.

Under thirty-five we have nothing to say and if we did it wouldn't be worth talking about.

THE ABNORMAL PROSPERITY OF TODAY IS FALSE

WASHINGTON Feb. 12.—Warning that the prosperity and activity indicated by banking figures may become artificial and deceptive was given today by John Skelton Williams in his annual report as comptroller of the currency.

Remarking that in 1919 there was not a national bank failure involving loss to depositors and that the banking power of the country has increased 900 percent in the last 30 years, Mr. Williams added:

"A large volume of money cannot mean increase of real wealth while there is decreased of production and the accumulation and movement of securities and currency represent abnormally inflated values put on diminished supplies of essentials."

"It is clear that no country can be enriched by merely increasing prices of products produced and consumed by its own people. We might prosper for the moment, if we could sell our products abroad at the higher prices and take payment in gold or in goods at normal prices; but we gain nothing when we sell and buy at corresponding abnormal prices."

First Candidate Announces
Edgar Hutchinson of Allen is probably the first citizen of Pontotoc County to openly announce himself as a candidate in the Democratic primary of 1920. Mr. Hutchinson informs the public generally that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner in the Allen district and will make a special effort to win. He is well known throughout his district, having been a citizen of the county for a good many years and has been actively engaged in various business pursuits. His wide acquaintance among the voters and his good reputation among the voters make his announcement interesting news to the public. Candidates have been unusually slow to announce in Pontotoc County this year, but it is likely that warmer days will soon bring out a full crop and that the woods will soon be full of them.
